HOME & GARDEN WALKING TOURS

Join the Annual Savannah Tour of Homes & Gardens in Celebrating 84 Years of Hospitality, Preservation and Community Giving!

The Tour offers a rare opportunity to enter some of Savannah's finest private homes and experience the architecture, furnishings and collections that have been treasured by families for generations but seldom seen by the public. These properties have been meticulously restored, preserving the character of the space yet allowing for the enjoyment of modern amenities. Several sites incorporate more current design trends.

The 2019 Tour features homes in four of Savannah's National Register Historic Districts. Thursday highlights the Victorian and Thomas Square Streetcar districts. Friday and Saturday focus on downtown, home to the largest urban National Historic Landmark District in the United States, featuring twenty-two oak-canopied squares surrounded by lovely homes, businesses, and churches. Ardsley Park, Savannah's first planned suburban area, is featured on our Sunday Tour.

This District is characterized by shaded, tree-lined streets with wide brick sidewalks and picturesque houses lined up on narrow landscaped lots. Architectural styles reflect those popular at this time and range from the Carpenter "Box" style, a box embellished with lace-like wood designs, to High Victorian Queen Anne style with several fine brick townhouses scattered throughout the district. The Thomas Square Streetcar Historic District consists of a mix of residential, commercial, and community landmark buildings with landscaped yards and tree-lined streets. The district is characterized as a streetcar suburb, which developed during the late 19th into the mid-20th century. Architectural styles within the district include Queen Anne, Folk Victorian, Italianate, Neoclassical Revival Colonial Revival, Beaux Arts, Prairie School, and Craftsman.

FRIDAY EVENTS & SEMINARS

Tied up in a Bow: Sherman's Savannah

TBD

10:00 am - 11:30 am Tickets $35

By all accounts, December of 1864 was merciless. The Union Army ended their five-week "burning march to the sea" in Georgia's old colonial city during the coldest winter on record. Savannah, defenseless, desperately short on supplies, and weary from years of war-time sacrifices, surrendered to General William T. Sherman and accepted the thousands of troops that came with him. Join us as we explore Savannah during this pivotal moment in Civil War history.

It's a Mystery!

3:00 pm - 4:30 pm Tickets $40

Savannah's favorite comedy team, Odd Lot Improv, joins the amazing chefs at Savannah Coffee Roasters to bring you an afternoon of fun that you will never forget. Guests and Odd Lot's team of actors will weave together a fully improvised story of murder and mystery all while enjoying a traditional Southern tea. Guests chose the characters, quirks and plot, then solve the mystery!

Yellow Fever in Savannah!

The Davenport House, 324 East State Street

5:00 pm - 6:30 pm Tickets $35

As with coastal cities throughout the United States in the 19th century, Savannah was the location of tragic yellow fever outbreaks. In 1820 the city's outbreak was widespread. See a historical recreation of Savannah's dreadful Yellow Fever Epidemic of 1820 with particular emphasis on the medical techniques of the period and the destination of the soul. A highlight is moving though the candlelit rooms witnessing enactments by costumed performers. In an area seldom seen by visitors, the fate and experiences of the uncounted half of the city's population, both free and enslaved Africans, are revealed.
